Dear Parents

Re: Guided Reading Sessions

As from this week onwards, teachers will no longer be making comments in the reading diaries following a guided reading session. Instead, teachers will inform you of what they will be focusing upon each half term. This will be communicated via the reading diaries.

This decision has not been taken lightly, but it was felt that the amount of time that it takes to complete 30 individual dairies each Monday has become unsustainable. Many diaries need to be completed during the lunchtime break due to constraints on time and teachers are already using most of this time to mark children's 'morning work' and to set up for the afternoon.

We appreciate that some parents may be disappointed with this decision, but hope that you can understand why it has been made. Please continue to make your own comments in the diary as these are very much appreciated.

Thank you for your continued support.

Yours sincerely
